UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Plaintiff, v. JOSE LUIS FRANCESCHY-ROBLES, Defendant.	Criminal Case No. 08CR1903-BEN Date: August 18, 2008 Time: 2:00 p.m. Place: Courtroom 3 The Honorable Roger T. Benitez UNITED STATES' RESPONSE IN OPPOSITION TO DEFENDANT'S MOTIONS TO 1) COMPEL DISCOVERY AND PRESERVE EVIDENCE; AND 2) GRANT LEAVE TO FILE FURTHER MOTIONS TOGETHER WITH STATEMENT OF FACTS, MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

The plaintiff, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, by and through its counsel, Karen P. Hewitt, United States Attorney, and Joseph J.M. Orabona, Assistant United States Attorney, hereby files its Response in Opposition to Defendant's above-referenced Motions. This Response in Opposition is based upon the files and records of the case, together with the attached statement of facts and memorandum of points and authorities.

I

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On June 11, 2008, a federal grand jury in the Southern District of California returned an Indictment charging Jose Luis Franceschy-Robles ("Defendant") with being a deported alien found in the United States, in violation of 8 U.S.C. § 1326(a) and (b). On June 18, 2008, Defendant was arraigned on the Indictment and pled not guilty. The motion hearing was continued on June 30, 2008 to August 18, 2008. On June 23, 2008, the United States filed motions for fingerprint exemplars, reciprocal discovery and leave to file further motions. On July 2, 2008, Defendant filed motions to compel discovery and preserve evidence, and to grant leave to file further motions. The United States files the following response in opposition to these motions.

II

STATEMENT OF FACTS

A. OFFENSE CONDUCT

On March 26, 2008, at approximately 4:45 p.m., Border Patrol Agent G. Harkins responded to a seismic sensor intrusion device approximately 50 yards north of the U.S./Mexico international border and approximately 5 miles west of the San Ysidro, California, Port of Entry. Agent Harkins arrived in the area and spotted a group of suspected illegal aliens attempting to hide in the thick brush. Agent Harkins approached the group, identified himself as a Border Patrol Agent, and the group fled the scene. After a short foot chase, Agent Harkins apprehended four individuals and performed a field interview of each person – asking each person about their citizenship and their immigration status. All four of the individuals, including one individual later identified as Jose Luis Franceschy-Robles ("Defendant"), freely admitted to being citizens and nations of Mexico without any documentation to enter or remain legally in the United States. Agent Harkins placed all four individuals under arrest and transported them back to the Imperial Beach Border Patrol Station for processing.

At approximately 10:21 p.m., Agent Harkins advised Defendant of his Miranda rights in the English language, and Defendant acknowledged that he understood his rights and that he did not want to speak with the agents without the presence of counsel.

B. DEFENDANT'S IMMIGRATION HISTORY

A records check confirmed that Defendant is a citizen and national of Mexico, and that Defendant was ordered excluded, deported, and removed from the United States to Mexico pursuant to an order issued by an immigration judge on March 12, 2008. Defendant was physically removed from the United States to Mexico on March 12, 2008, which is merely two weeks before the instant arrest. After Defendant's last deportation, there is no evidence in the reports and records maintained by the Department of Homeland Security that Defendant applied to the U.S. Attorney General or the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security to lawfully return to the United States.

C. DEFENDANT'S CRIMINAL HISTORY

Defendant has an extensive criminal history. The United States propounds that Defendant has at least thirteen criminal history points placing him in Criminal History Category VI. The following is a summary of defendant's criminal history:

CONVICT DATE	COURT OF CONVICTION	CHARGE	TERM
6/02/1998	Cal. Superior Ct. Santa Ana	Cal. Penal Code § 529.5 – Possession of Fake Driver's License (misdemeanor)	3 yrs probation
6/12/1998	Cal. Superior Ct. Orange County	Cal. H&S Code § 11379 – Transportation / Possess for Sale Controlled Substance (felony) 2/26/2002 – Probation revoked	120 days jail, 3 yrs probation 3 years prison
11/30/1999	Cal. Superior Ct. Westminster	Cal. Penal Code § 417 – Exhibit Firearm (misdemeanor)	3 years probation
7/12/2000	Cal. Superior Ct. Newport Beach	Cal. Penal Code § 32 – Accessory to Assault w/ GBI (not firearm) (misdemeanor)	90 days jail
2/26/2002	Cal. Superior Ct. Orange County	Cal. Penal Code §§ 187 and 666 – Attempted Murder (felony)	7 years prison

THE UNITED STATES' RESPONSE IN OPPOSITION TO DEFENDANT'S MOTIONS ALONG WITH MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

A. MOTION TO COMPEL DISCOVERY/PRESERVE EVIDENCE

As of the date of this Motion, the United States has produced 86 pages of discovery (including reports of the arresting officers and agents, criminal history reports, documents concerning Defendant's prior convictions, immigration history, and citizenship) and 1 DVD-rom of Defendant's post-arrest interview. The United States has ordered Defendant's deportation tapes, and some additional criminal history documents. As soon as these materials become available to the United States, the United States will produce any additional discovery. The United States will continue to comply with its obligations under Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963), the Jenks Act (18 U.S.C. §3500 et seq.), and Rule 16 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure ("Fed. R. Crim. P."). At this point the United States has received no reciprocal discovery. In view of the below-stated position of the United States concerning discovery, the United States respectfully requests the Court issue no orders compelling specific discovery by the United States at this time.

1, 3. Defendant's Statements And Arrest Reports

The United States has turned over a number of investigative reports, including those which disclose the substance of Defendant's oral statements made in response to routine questioning by United States' law enforcement officers. If additional reports by United States' agents come to light, the United States will supplement its discovery. The United States recognizes its obligations under Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(A) to disclose "the substance of any relevant oral statement made by the defendant, before or after arrest, in response to interrogation by a person the defendant knew was a government agent if the government intends to use the statement in trial." However, the United States is not required under Fed. R. Crim. P. 16 to deliver oral statements, if any, made by a defendant to persons who are not United States' agents. Nor is the United States required to produce oral statements, if any, voluntarily made by a defendant to United States' agents. See United States v. Hoffman, 794 F.2d 1429, 1432 (9th Cir. 1986); United States v. Stoll, 726 F.2d 584, 687-88 (9th Cir. 1984). Fed. R. Crim. P. 16 does not require the United States to produce statements by Defendant that it does not intend to use at trial. Moreover, the United States will not produce rebuttal evidence in advance of trial. See United States v. Givens, 767 F.2d 574, 584 (9th Cir. 1984). The United States also objects to Defendant's request for an order for production of any rough notes of United States' agents that may exist. Production of these notes, if any exist, is unnecessary because they are not "statements" within the meaning of the Jencks Act unless they contain a substantially verbatim narrative of a witness' assertions and they have been approved or adopted by the witness. See discussion infra Part III.A.19; see also United States v. Alvarez, 86 F.3d 901, 906 (9th Cir. 1996); United States v. Bobadilla-Lopez, 954 F.2d 519, 522 (9th Cir. 1992). The production of agents' notes is not required under Fed. R. Crim. P. 16 because the United States has "already provided defendant with copies of the formal interview reports prepared therefrom." United States .v Griffin, 659 F.2d 932, 941 (9th Cir. 1981). In addition, the United States considers the rough notes of its agents to be United States' work product, which Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(2) specifically exempts from disclosure.

2. Defendant's Prior Record

The United States has already provided Defendant with a copy of his criminal record and related court documents, in accordance with Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(D).

4, 5. Evidence Seized and Tangible Objects

The United States has complied and will continue to comply with Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(E) in allowing Defendant an opportunity, upon reasonable notice, to examine, inspect, and copy all evidence seized and/or tangible objects that are within the possession, custody, or control of the United States, and that are either material to the preparation of Defendant's defense, or are intended for use by the United States as evidence during its case-in-chief, or were obtained from or belongs to Defendant.

The United States need not, however, produce rebuttal evidence in advance of trial. See United States v. Givens, 767 F.2d 574, 584 (9th Cir. 1984).

6. Reports of Scientific Tests or Examinations

The United States will provide Defendant with any scientific tests or examinations, in accordance with Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(F).

7. Request for Preservation of Evidence

The United States will preserve all evidence pursuant to an order issued by this Court. The United States objects to an overbroad request to preserve all physical evidence. The United States does not oppose Defendant's request to inspect the firearm and ammunition possessed by and seized from Defendant in the instant offense.

8. Brady Material

The United States has complied and will continue to comply with its obligations under Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963). Under Brady and United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976), the government need not disclose "every bit of information that might affect the jury's decision." United States v. Gardner, 611 F.2d 770, 774-75 (9th Cir. 1980). The standard for disclosure is materiality. Id. "Evidence is material under Brady only if there is a reasonable probability that the result of the proceeding would have been different had it been disclosed to the defense." United States v. Antonakeas, 255 F.3d 714, 725 (9th Cir. 2001).

The United States will also comply with its obligations to disclose exculpatory evidence under Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963). Furthermore, impeachment evidence may constitute Brady material "when the reliability of the witness may be determinative of a criminal defendant's guilt or innocence." United States v. Blanco, 392 F.3d 382, 387 (9th Cir. 2004) (internal quotation marks omitted). However, the United States will not produce rebuttal evidence in advance of trial. See United States v. Givens, 767 F.2d 574, 584 (9th Cir. 1984).

9. Any Information That May Result in a Lower Sentence

Defendant claims that the United States must disclose information affecting Defendant's sentencing guidelines because such information is discoverable under Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963). The United States respectfully contends that it has no such disclosure obligation under Brady.

The United States is not obligated under Brady to furnish a defendant with information which he already knows. See United States v. Taylor, 802 F.2d 1108, 1118 n.5 (9th Cir. 1986). Brady is a rule of disclosure, and therefore, there can be no violation of Brady if the evidence is already known to the defendant. In such case, the United States has not suppressed the evidence and consequently has no Brady obligation. See United States v. Gaggi, 811 F.2d 47, 59 (2d Cir. 1987).

But even assuming Defendant does not already possess the information about factors which might affect his guideline range, the United States would not be required to provide information bearing on Defendant's mitigation of punishment until after Defendant's conviction or plea of guilty and prior to his sentencing date. See United States v. Juvenile Male, 864 F.2d 641, 647 (9th Cir. 1988) ("No [Brady] violation occurs if the evidence is disclosed to the defendant at a time when the disclosure remains in value."). Accordingly, Defendant's demand for this information is unwarranted.

10, 11. Any Proposed 404(b) or 609 Evidence

The United States has complied and will continue to comply with its obligations under Rules 404(b) and 609 of the Federal Rules of Evidence ("Fed. R. Evid."). The United States has already provided Defendant with a copy of his criminal record, in accordance with Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(D).

Furthermore, the United States objects to Defendant's request for "30-days notice before trial." [Def. Mot. at 8.] Defendant cites no authority for this time restriction, and therefore, pursuant to Fed. R. Evid. 404(b), the United States will provide Defendant with reasonable notice before trial of the general nature of the evidence of any extrinsic acts that it intends to use at trial. See FED. R. EVID. 404(b), advisory committee's note ("[T]he Committee opted for a generalized notice provision which requires the prosecution to appraise the defense of the general nature of the evidence of extrinsic acts. The Committee does not intend that the amendment will supercede other rules of admissibility or disclosure[.]").

12, 14, 19. Evidence of Bias or Motive to Lie / Impeachment Evidence/ Evidence Affecting Perception, Recollection, Ability to Communicate, or Truth Telling / Giglio Material

The United States will comply with its obligations to disclose impeachment evidence under Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972). Moreover, the United States will disclose impeachment evidence, if any exists, when it files its trial memorandum, although it is not required to produce such material until after its witnesses have testified at trial or at a hearing. See United States v. Bernard, 623 F.2d 551, 556 (9th Cir. 1979).

The United States recognizes its obligation to provide information related to the bias, prejudice or other motivation of United States' trial witnesses as mandated in Napue v. Illinois, 360 U.S. 264 (1959). The United States will provide such impeachment material in its possession, if any exists, at the time it files its trial memorandum. At this time, the United States is unaware of any prospective witness that is biased or prejudiced against Defendant or that has a motive to falsify or distort his or her testimony. The United States is unaware of any evidence that any United States witness' ability to perceive, recollect, communicate or tell the truth is impaired.

13. Evidence of Criminal Investigation of Any United States' Witness

The United States objects to Defendant's overbroad request for evidence of criminal investigations by federal, state, or local authorities into prospective government witnesses. The United States is unaware of any rule of discovery or Ninth Circuit precedent that entitles Defendant to any and all evidence that a prospective government witness is under investigation by federal, state or local authorities. Moreover, as discussed above, the United States has no obligation to disclose information not within its possession, custody or control. See United States v. Gatto, 763 F.2d 1040, 1048 (9th Cir. 1985); United States v. Aichele, 941 F.2d 761, 764 (9th Cir. 1991) (California state prisoner's files outside of federal prosecutor's possession); United States v. Chavez-Vernaza, 844 F.2d 1368, 1375 (9th Cir. 1987) (the federal government had no duty to obtain from state officials documents of which it was aware but over which it had no actual control); cf. Beaver v. United States, 351 F.2d 507 (9th Cir. 1965) (Jencks Act refers to "any statement" of a witness produced by United States which is in possession of United States and does not apply to a recording in possession of state authorities).

The United States recognizes and will comply with its obligations under the rules of discovery and Ninth Circuit precedent to disclose exculpatory and impeachment information. The United States also recognizes its obligation to provide information--if any exists--related to the bias, prejudice or other motivation of United States' trial witnesses, as mandated in Napue v. Illinois, 360 U.S. 264 (1959), when it files its trial memorandum.

15, 16. Names of Witnesses and Witness Addresses

The United States objects to Defendant's request for witness addresses and phone numbers. Defendant is not entitled to the production of addresses or phone numbers of possible witnesses for the United States. See United States v. Hicks, 103 F.3d 837, 841 (9th Cir. 1996); United States v. Thompson, 493 F.2d 305, 309 (9th Cir. 1977), cert denied, 419 U.S. 834 (1974). None of the cases cited by Defendant, nor any rule of discovery, requires the United States to disclose witness addresses. There is no obligation for the United States to provide addresses of witnesses that the United States intends to call or not call. Therefore, the United States will not comply with this request.

The United States will produce the names of witnesses it intends to call at trial. Defendant has already received access to the names of potential witnesses through the discovery sent to his counsel. The United States is not aware of any individuals who were witnesses to Defendant's offense except the law enforcement agentes who apprehended him. The names of these individuals have already been provided to Defendant.

17. Statements Relevant to the Defense

The United States objects to the request for "any statement relevant to any possible defense or contention" as overbroad and not required by any discovery rule or Ninth Circuit precedent. Therefore, the United States will only disclose relevant statements made by Defendant pursuant to this request.

18. Jencks Act Material

The United States will fully comply with its discovery obligations under the Jencks Act. For purposes of the Jencks Act, a "statement" is (1) a written statement made by the witness and signed or otherwise adopted or approved by him, (2) a substantially verbatim, contemporaneously recorded transcription of the witness' oral statement, or (3) a statement by the witness before a grand jury. See 18 U.S.C. § 3500(e). Notes of an interview only constitute statements discoverable under the Jencks Act if the statements are adopted by the witness, as when the notes are read back to a witness to see whether or not the government agent correctly understood what the witness said. United States v. Boshell, 952 F.2d 1101, 1105 (9th Cir. 1991) (citing Goldberg v. United States, 425 U.S. 94, 98 (1976)). In addition, rough notes by a government agent "are not producible under the Jencks Act due to the incomplete nature of the notes." United States v. Cedano-Arellano, 332 F.3d 568, 571 (9th Cir. 2004).

Production of this material need only occur after the witness making the Jencks Act statements testifies on direct examination. See United States v. Robertson, 15 F.3d 862, 873 (9th Cir. 1994). Indeed, even material that is potentially exculpatory (and therefore subject to disclosure under Brady) need not be revealed until such time as the witness testifies on direct examination if such material is contained in a witness's Jencks Act statements. See United States v. Bernard, 623 F.2d 551, 556 (9th Cir. 1979). Accordingly, the United States reserves the right to withhold Jencks Act statements of any particular witness it deems necessary until after they testify.

20. Record of Any Deportation Hearing

The United States objects to Defendant's request for "all tapes and/or transcripts from any and all administrative hearings relating to any and all alleged orders of deportation or of concerning the defendant" as vague, overbroad, and not required by any discovery rule or Ninth Circuit precedent. Defendant cites no authority for this request, and therefore, the United States will not comply with it. The records of any deportation hearing are not Rule 16 discoverable information.

The United States will produce documents it intends to use in its case-in-chief. Evidence is material under Brady only if there is a reasonable probability that had it been disclosed to the defense, the result of the proceeding would have been different. See United States v. Antonakeas, 255 F.3d 714, 725 (9th Cir. 2001). Here, the United States has order the deportation tape of Defendant's immigration hearing held on March 12, 2008. As soon as these tapes become available to the United States, the United States will produce a copy of them to Defendant.

21. Henthorn Materials (Not Requested by Defendant)

While not specifically mentioned in Defendant's discovery motion, the United States has complied and will continue to comply with United States v. Henthorn, 931 F.2d 29 (9th Cir. 1991) by requesting that all federal agencies involved in the criminal investigation and prosecution review the personnel files of the federal law enforcement inspectors, officers, and special agents whom the United States intends to call at trial and disclose information favorable to the defense that meets the appropriate standard of materiality. See United States v. Booth, 309 F.3d 566, 574 (9th Cir. 2002) (citing United States v. Jennings, 960 F.2d 1488, 1489 (9th Cir. 1992)). If the materiality of incriminating information in the personnel files is in doubt, the information will be submitted to the Court for an in camera inspection and review.

B. LEAVE TO FILE FURTHER MOTIONS

The United States does not oppose Defendant's request to file further motions if they are based on new discovery or other information not available to Defendant at the time of this motion hearing.

IV

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the United States requests the Court deny Defendant's Motion to Compel Discovery and Preserve Evidence, and Grant Leave to File Further Motions, unless unopposed.
